

FIGURE 1. The different hominin species of the past seven million years. Although paleoanthropologists agree on the broad outline, many of the specific relationships and species designations are debated. The A. stands for the genus Australopithecus; the P. for Paranthropus (which some would classify as Australopithecus); the H. stands for Homo, our own genus.